Diwali airfares skyrocket by four-fold

MUMBAI: An analysis of fares across six key domestic corridors, shared by leading travel and hotel booking platform Cleartrip, shows that peak airfares for Diwali 2026 have climbed significantly over the average fares recorded during Diwali 2025. The steepest increase has been recorded on the Mumbai-Ahmedabad route, where peak fares have touched Rs 23,000, compared with an average of Rs 3,800-Rs 5,000 last year.

Similarly, fares on the Delhi-Mumbai corridor, one of the country's busiest business routes, have climbed to as much as Rs 26,500 against an average of Rs 5,500-Rs 7,200 during Diwali 2025. This represents an increase of over 3.5 times at the upper end of the fare range, as per Cleartrip data.

The crowded Bengaluru Airport

The Bengaluru-Delhi route has also witnessed a sharp escalation with peak fares reaching Rs 22,000 compared with an average of Rs 7,500-Rs 9,500 last year. On the Delhi/Mumbai-Patna corridor, fares have touched Rs 32,000 against an average of Rs 10,000-Rs 14,000 during the previous festive season.

Other routes have seen similar trends. Peak fares on the Bengaluru-Mumbai corridor have risen to Rs 8,500-Rs 13,000 compared with Rs 4,200-Rs 6,000 last year. Meanwhile, fares on the Bengaluru-Lucknow route have touched Rs 9,900-Rs 15,000 against an average of Rs 6,720 during Diwali 2025.

The sharp increase in festive airfares can be attributed to heightened demand and limited capacity as a large number of passengers travel to their hometowns for Diwali and Chatt festival or take leisure trips. Routes connecting major economic hubs such as Bengaluru, Delhi and Mumbai with smaller cities witness particularly steep increases every year.

Akasa Air to shift its Jeddah flights to Navi Mumbai

MUMBAI: Akasa Air will shift its Jeddah flights from Mumbai's Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj International Airport (CSMIA) to Navi Mumbai International Airport (NMIA) from Dec 15, likely becoming the first airline to undergo the transition to make way for the redevelopment of Mumbai Airport's Terminal-1. The carrier will operate a twice-daily flight to Jeddah and will become the second commercial passenger air-

Indian visa categories to be pruned to nine from 13

NEW DELHI: The Union Home Ministry is set to overhaul India's visa regime by reducing the number of main visa categories from 13 to nine and trimming visa application forms by 70 pc as part of an exercise to simplify the process.

As part of a comprehensive review of the Visa Manual, 2019, amendments are likely to be made to various chapters and appendices, limiting the number of categories in which visas can be issued.

A meeting was held in August to introduce amendments to various chapters and Appendices I and II of the Visa Manual, 2019, during which it was decided to rationalise and simplify the Indian visa regime.

It was decided to reduce the number of main visa categories from 13 to nine and sub-categories from 49 to 23. The Centre has also decided to make visa application forms leaner by doing away with 70pc of the fields in the form.

The move aims to introduce user-friendly and simpler visa forms by eliminating overlapping, repetitive and redundant fields. Conforming to global norms, the government is likely to introduce the changes across all visa categories and sub-categories.

Beware of fraudulent part-time job offers: Dubai police

DUBAI: Dubai Police have warned jobseekers to be wary of fraudulent part-time job offers designed to steal banking information or involve unsuspecting people in illegal financial transactions.

The Anti-Fraud Centre at the General Department of Criminal Investigation said genuine part-time jobs come from legally licensed businesses with verifiable identities and addresses. Real offers also include clear employment terms, the rights and responsibilities of both parties, and proper recruitment procedures.

The warning is part of Dubai Police's participation in the Ministry of Interior's "A Safe UAE Starts with Your Digital Awareness" campaign, launched for Cyber security

Kota airport to be ready by Oct next

JAIPUR: One of India's leading coaching hubs for medical and engineering entrance examinations, Kota is set to get a major aviation infrastructure boost, with the Kota-Bundi Greenfield Airport scheduled for completion by Oct, 2027.

The airport is being developed with a focus on world-class passenger facilities, enhanced aircraft handling capacity, energy efficiency, environmental sustainability and robust security arrangements.

Once operational, the airport is expected to improve air connectivity to Kota and adjoining regions, providing a significant boost to tourism, business and the city's large student population. According to the project plan, the airport will have a 20,000-square-metre passenger terminal building with an annual passenger-handling capacity of two million. It will be equipped with 14 check-in counters and nine self-check-in kiosks, along with an automated baggage handling system and baggage claim carousels.

A modern Air Traffic Control (ATC) facility will also be developed as part of a G+3-storey technical block. The airport will additionally have a dedicated fire station to strengthen emergency response and fire fighting services.

In a push towards renewable energy, a ground-mounted solar power plant with a capacity of 1 MWp will be installed at the airport. The plant is expected to meet about y

Canada to admit six lakh new permanent residents by 2027

OTTAWA: Canada plans to welcome up to 6,22,000 new permanent residents by the end of 2027 through a combination of regular immigration admissions and a one-time transition programme for temporary residents, according to the federal government's Budget 2026 and Immigration Levels Plan.

The measures aim to facilitate the transition of up to two lakh temporary residents already in Canada to permanent residence by the end of 2027, in addition to the targeted 4.22 lakh permanent resident admissions in 2027.

The information shared on the official website of Government of Canada (Canada.ca) by the Immigration, Refugees and Citizenship Canada (IRCC) reads: "The levels plan stabilizes targets for new temporary resident arrivals at 3.7 lakh per year. This includes 2.2 lakh new workers and up to 1.5 lakh new international students in 2027, 2028 and 2029."

Of the two lakh spaces under the one-time transition programme, one lakh will be earmarked for skilled workers through the Express Entry system and the Provincial Nominee Programme (PNP), in co-ordination with provincial and territorial governments.

The 2027–2029 Immigration Levels Plan seeks to stabilise immigration while addressing Canada's labour market requirements. "It sets annual targets of 3.7 lakh new temporary

20-year-old Punjab-origin woman becomes councillor in Surrey

SURREY (Canada): At an age when most young people are still navigating their academic and professional journeys, 20-year-old Suhana Gill, a woman of Punjabi origin, has taken a leap into public life, becoming the youngest-ever city councillor of Surrey in British Columbia, Canada.

Gill took the oath of office on Nov 2, joining the newly elected Surrey City Council led by Mayor Doug McCallum.

Born and raised in Surrey, Gill completed her high school education at the age of 15 and went on to pursue political science at Kwantlen Polytechnic University (KPU). She completed her bachelor's degree at 19.

Her political ambitions, however, did not emerge overnight. Her involvement in public affairs, youth advocacy and community initiatives had already positioned her as a young voice in Surrey's civic landscape.

Gill has also worked with the House of Commons, contributed to CBC News panels and been associated with the non-profit sector. Her professional experience includes real estate, where she gained an understanding of the housing affordability crisis and the difficulties faced by young families attempting to establish themselves in the city.

Gill contested the Oct

Awareness Month in October. The campaign aims to raise public awareness of online fraud and cybercrime.

The Anti-Fraud Centre said scammers often target people looking for extra income by advertising attractive part-time opportunities that turn out to be fake. These schemes may involve attempts to obtain applicants' banking details or persuade them to make or facilitate illegal financial transfers linked to criminal activity. Dubai Police urged jobseekers to verify a company's identity and legal status before sharing personal information, accepting an offer or transferring money. Applicants should check company names and registration details through official channels and make sure they are dealing with a legitimate, identifiable employer.

The centre also stressed that jobseekers should never pay fees to secure a job. Dubai Police warned against sharing banking information or one-time passwords (OTPs) with anyone claiming to offer employment. Jobseekers were also advised not to click unfamiliar links received through social media or messaging apps.

line to operate from NMIA.

The new route will be operated as per the earlier announcement made by the carrier and the airport operator's parent firm – Adani Airport Holdings – on Oct 27. Akasa Air was among the first airlines, along with IndiGo and Air India Express, to announce the transition of its Jeddah flights.

The carrier will deploy its 197-seater Boeing 737 MAX 8 aircraft for the twice-daily flights from NMIA to Jeddah in Saudi Arabia. The inaugural flight on Dec 15 will depart NMIA at 4.45 am and the return flight will arrive at 7.35 am. The second flight will depart for Jeddah at 5.25 pm and reach back NMIA at 5.25 am.

Notably, Akasa Air will become the second international commercial passenger airliner from NMIA after Air India Express, which started three weekly Abu Dhabi flights from July 15.

The push to shift domestic and international capacity stems from an ambitious plan by the airport operator to demolish and completely redevelop CSMIA's 60-year-old Terminal-1. To execute the plan, the operator aims to shift five million passengers, including domestic and international, from Mumbai to NMIA.

FLY91 gives air connectivity to Sindhudurg

PANAJI: For residents of Sindhudurg and neighbouring regions in South Maharashtra, reaching Mumbai, located around 500 km away, has traditionally meant undertaking a lengthy journey by road or rail.

That is set to change from Nov 16, when Goa-headquartered pure play regional airline FLY91 begins daily flights connecting Sindhudurg with Navi Mumbai. The airline has opened bookings for the service.

FLY91 is currently the only airline operating from Sindhudurg and the new service will re-establish a direct air connection between the district and the Mumbai region, addressing a longstanding demand among local residents. The route also delivers much-awaited business and administrative connectivity from Sindhudurg to the state and financial capital and offers visitors from the Mumbai region easier access to Sindhudurg and its tourism attractions.

Navi Mumbai is FLY91's 14th destination and its fifth in Maharashtra, alongside Sindhudurg, Jalgaon, Solapur and Pune. The regional airline is building a network that connects emerging cities with economic, tourism and pilgrimage centres across India.

"Residents of Sindhudurg have always wanted a direct and convenient connection to Mumbai. With the Navi Mumbai service, we are responding to that demand and making access to the metropolis considerably quicker. As the only airline operating from Sindhudurg, we recognise the importance of providing the region with reliable air connectivity. The route will also make this beautiful coastal region more accessible to visitors, helping unlock its tourism potential and creating opportunities for greater economic activity," said Manoj Chacko, Founder, Managing Director and CEO, FLY91.

He added that "Navi Mumbai airport is a smart, modern and efficient gateway to the Mumbai region with a smoother airport experience and excellent on time performance. The Atal Setu provides quick access to South Mumbai and BKC, while an efficient network of buses, taxis and app-based cabs ensures seamless onward connectivity, including links to nearby railway stations. With a substantial catchment across Navi Mumbai, Panvel and eastern Mumbai, we see Navi Mumbai as a compelling gateway for business and leisure travellers alike.

FLY91 currently flies to 14 destinations across India, namely Mopa (Goa), Navi Mumbai, Sindhudurg, Jalgaon, Solapur and Pune (Maharashtra), Bengaluru and Hubballi (Karnataka), Agatti (Lakshadweep), Kochi (Kerala), Hyderabad (Telangana), and Rajahmundry, Vijayawada and Tirupati (Andhra Pradesh)

GULF FAQs

Does UAE law apply outside country?

Is UAE law applicable outside the country? Now countries are signing extradition treaty to deal with such crimes. Can you please explain?

As students travel abroad for studies and Emirati families settle in foreign countries, cultural clashes may arise, with the social sensitivities of a different land hard to adapt to for those used to UAE norms.

However, what about laws? Do legal rights and requirements of a foreign land get overruled by UAE law? Do citizens have to abide by UAE laws no matter which country they are in?

While the UAE Penal Code primarily applies to crimes committed on UAE territory, the jurisdiction extends further in some cases, according to Dr Hassan Elhais, legal consultant at Awatif Mohammad Shoqi Advocates & Legal Consultancy.

This includes cases where the UAE can prosecute its citizens and cases where the Emirates can take legal action against any person, regardless of nationality. An Emirati citizen who commits a crime abroad can be penalised for it upon their return to the country, under Article 23 of the UAE Penal Code. This is provided that the crime is punishable under both UAE law and the laws of the country where the crime was committed, Hassan said.

It is important to note that the "jurisdictional reach applies regardless of whether the offense was committed against a fellow Emirati or not," according to Bassem Ehab, Senior Associate at Habib Al Mulla and Partners. However, prosecution will not proceed if the individual has already been acquitted or convicted by a final judgment in the country where the offence was committed, Bassem said.

While Emiratis can be prosecuted by UAE for any crime committed abroad, given certain conditions, people of other nationalities can be punished by UAE only for specific types of crimes committed outside the country mentioned in Article 21 and 22, according to Hassan.

Bassem detailed the offences that grants extraterritorial application of UAE laws under Article 21 of the UAE Penal Code. This applies to anyone who commits an act as a principal or accomplice in any of the following crimes:

Offences against the UAE's internal or external security, constitutional structure or crimes involving the forgery or counterfeiting of official seals, government-issued financial instruments, or stamps;

Forgery, counterfeiting or falsification of UAE currency whether committed within or outside the country, including the distribution or possession of such currency with intent to distribute; Forgery or falsification of paper money or coins that are legal tender in the UAE, including their distribution or possession for distribution purposes;

Premeditated murder of a UAE citizen, regardless of where the act was committed Under Article 22, "the UAE can also prosecute any person who is found in the UAE after committing a major international crime like terrorism, human trafficking or money laundering anywhere in the world," Hassan said.

Article 22 also extends to distribution of drugs — whether as a principal or accomplice — committed outside the UAE should the perpetrator return to the UAE regardless of their nationality, Bassem said.

Moreover, if certain actions committed abroad amount to a crime partially or fully committed in the UAE, the perpetrator can be held accountable under UAE law, he added.

Can you be fined for insulting someone in a UAE court?

In a memorandum submitted to the court, I described my ex-husband as "very stingy." I discovered that he had filed a criminal complaint against me in relation to this statement. Does he have the right to file a criminal complaint on these grounds? If so, what penalties could I face?

To answer such question, I would advise the questioner that: Article 429 of the Federal Decree Law Promulgating the Crimes and Penalties provides that no crime is committed in respect of libel or slander contained in a good-faith oral or written defence submitted before a court or an investigating authority, provided that the statement remains within the limits of the right of defence.

So, individuals and lawyers can exercise their right to a fair defence without fear of a defamation or slander charge, but the statements must be made in good faith and strictly remain within the necessary bounds of the legal defence.

Your ex-husband may have the right to file a criminal complaint alleging insult or defamation, but that does not mean you have committed a crime or that you will be convicted. The court will assess the wording of the statement, the context in which it was made, its relevance to the proceedings and whether it falls within the scope of the legal protection afforded to statements made in good-faith defence.

Article 43, Federal Decree-Law No. 34 of 2021 (Cybercrime Law) is applied for such crimes because the memorandum is submitted through the court system. The penalty as per the mentioned Article is imprisonment and/or a fine of Dh 250,000 to Dh 500,000, but the court shall estimate the relevant penalty. In the UAE, statements made in a court defence are protected from defamation charges if they are in good faith and within the limits of the legal defence, but a complaint can still be filed and penalties under the cybercrime law may apply.

US midterm polls: India winner with lower oil prices, more foreign investments

WASHINGTON: India could emerge as one of the key beneficiaries of a changing global investment environment following the US midterm election results, with the possibility of lower crude oil prices, softer global bond yields and improved foreign investment flows.

In the elections, the Democratic Party won control of both the Senate and the House of Representatives, delivering a death blow to President Trump's administration.

The Democratic gains in the US Congress could increase legislative checks on the administration over the remaining two years of the US President's term, potentially creating room for a more measured approach towards geopolitical tensions, tariffs and financial conditions.

The Democrats have indicated that affordability, the conflict with Iran and tariffs will receive greater attention when the new Congress takes charge in January. The changed political balance could ease some near-term global economic pressures, although it does not guarantee a return to the global economic and geopolitical conditions that existed before the current period of disruption.

The result may create some room for a more measured approach to geopolitical tensions, tariffs and financial conditions. One of the huge potential benefits for global markets could come from lower crude oil prices if geopolitical tensions in the MidEast ease. A reduction in crude prices could also help moderate inflationary pressures and reduce the pressure on global bond yields.

According to economists, India could particularly benefit from such a situation as it is a major importer of both energy and capital. High oil prices, elevated US yields and a strong US dollar have together created a challenging environment for emerging markets, affecting currencies and capital flows.

India could benefit from a softer crude and yields environment because it is a major importer of both energy and capital.

Lower energy costs could also reduce imported inflation, transportation expenses and input costs for businesses. This may improve household purchasing power and corporate profit margins while providing greater flexibility for monetary policy.

Strengthening rupee: what it means for NRIs

DUBAI: Softness in Asian currencies continues to benefit UAE expats, who get more back home for every dirham they send. The Indian rupee, Philippine peso and Pakistani rupee are all trading near multi-year lows, despite a few rebound attempts.

But, the rupee has bounced back more than three per cent from its all-time low of 96.90 per dollar. Two things that are helping the fiat are Trump's weak showing in the US midterms and falling crude oil prices. The mid-term results have improved the outlook for emerging markets such as India, and crude prices back under $100 a barrel act as another boost.

Foreign investors are also buying Indian equities again and analysts now expect the rupee to reach around 92.5 against the dollar by the end of Dec. The dirham is pegged to the dollar, so the rupee is gaining against the UAE currency by the same margin.

Currently the Indian rupee is trading at Dh25.57 versus Dh25.60 in the previous session. Now, an expat will have to spend Dh39.11 to get a Rs1000 in exchange.

Saudi tourism activities grow, tourist lodges lead at 52pc

RIYADH: Saudi Arabia's Ministry of Commerce reported that the number of active commercial registrations across several tourism-related activities increased by between 32pc and 52 pc in 2026.

The growth points to expanding business and investment opportunities in the sector, supported by the development of tourism destinations as the Kingdom advances its Vision 2030 goals.

The ministry stated that commercial registrations for tourist lodges grew by 52pc year on year, reaching 18,115 by the end of the third quarter of 2026.

Of the worker admissions, 50,000 spaces have been allocated to the Temporary Foreign Worker Programme. Under this programme, employers are required to obtain Labour Market Impact Assessments (LMIAs) to demonstrate that no qualified Canadian citizen or permanent resident is available to fill the position. Economic immigration will account for more than 64pc of permanent resident admissions over the next three years, with the government prioritising skilled talent to address workforce shortages.
